

I am a huge proponent of the No-Call list. When my daughter was very young telemarketers would call at all hours of the day and up to 9:00 at night. Just when you get your child asleep the phone would ring and wake her up. It is nice enjoying dinner and a movie without being interrupted by telemarketers. My household is much quieter and happier without the added stress of people that won't take 'no thank you' for an answer.

Please do not do away with this ruling, it would be a big mistake for the government to overturn this practice. My entire family is happier because of it.
